Dr. Martin Salutes The Alumnae

No group of the institution's constituency is closer to Wesleyan than those who are its alumnae. They have received direct benefits from the institution. They term it their educational mother—alma mater. The alumnae, therefore, should become a continuing source of spiritual, academic and financial strength to the college. The bridge of personal interest that is built between the individual alumna and the college is of paramount importance to all concerned.

It is my expressed hope as your college president that you will think of yourselves as interpreters of your alma mater. Believe in Wesleyan College. Believe in her ideals and aspirations. Believe that when you say a good word about Wesleyan, when you turn a qualified student to Wesleyan or when you are making a friend for Wesleyan that you are performing a necessary and an important task. Such investment of time, self, and substance will repay you in increasing volume with a sense of participation in something big, important and permanent. More and more your alumnae association will become a subject of active discussion and active interest. All alumnae can contribute here, and all will do so to the extent that their knowledge and pride will permit. We recognize you as an integral and continuing part in the life and development of Wesleyan. A college is no better than its alumnae—its finished product.

Be accurately informed about Wesleyan. Misinformation is more deadly than no information. The emphasis is on word informed, for no alumnae gives wholehearted support without full knowledge of the policies, the accomplishments and the needs of her college. Indeed, the alumnae should be the best informed of the college's many publics, for they are, in a sense, its most natural and most numerous public relations agents. The alumnae association will in short, actively fill the role which is yours by right and common sense.

Mrs. Martin and I pledge you our best in making Wesleyan — a good college better! I salute you in that spirit.

B. JOSEPH MARTIN

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

Introducing Wesleyan's First Family

Dr. Martin, Mrs. Duryea, Mrs. Martin

Dr. and Mrs. B. Joseph Martin and Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. John A. Duryea, have been on the Rivoli campus only a short time, yet in that period, all three have taken their places at the College and made their personalities strongly felt. The more you know them, the more you admire and love them.

Dr. Martin, 46, born in Bourg, La., you might call a "self-made man." Being the oldest of 12 children and the son of a Methodist minister, he dropped out of high school three times to help support the family; and not until he was 24 years old was he able to return to high school. His father is of English descent; his mother, French.

He attended the University of Cincinnati for two years, during which time he met Mrs. Martin. He received his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Theology degrees from Pasadena College. Later from the University of Southern California he obtained his Master of Theology, and a Doctor of Philosophy degree was granted him by the same University. He also holds membership in four national scholastic fraternities. Dr. Martin's administrative ability has been shown by his being made vice-president of Oklahoma City University and vice-president of Asbury Theological Seminary. He is also the immediate past Executive Director of the Methodist College Foundation of N. C., Inc. He has recently been selected for Who's Who in America.

Dr. Martin admits he is often asked what the "B" stands for in his name. And believe it or not, it stands for Buddy. He was named for an uncle whose nickname was Buddy, but Dr. Martin was christened with that name. His family calls him Bud. He comments now as he once did to Bishop Cannon, Sr., who remarked that it was a very strange name, "Well, it is rather like being born. I had nothing to do with it!"

The new president is truly abounding with energy, ambition, and drive. He enjoys hunting and fishing, but his main form of relaxation is getting out of doors with his beagles. He had not been at Wesleyan long before he was found on the back campus selecting the site for their new home.

Mrs. Martin, whose given name is Evelyn, and her mother spent a great deal of the Christmas holidays unpacking and arranging their apartment over the student activities' building. Their rooms are beautiful, showing great taste and evidence of their handwork in hooked rugs, crocheted bedspreads, two finely crocheted luncheon cloths and several oil paintings done by Mrs. Duryea. In the hall is the 125 year old flax wheel which was the property of Mrs. Martin's great-grandparents, and in the living room, a nest of teakwood tables brought from the Orient by Mrs. Duryea.

Mrs. Martin was born in Huntington, L. I., and lived there through her high school days. She did her under-graduate work at a small Christian college in Indiana, Taylor University. She received her Master's degree with honors from Ohio State University at Columbus. While there, she was elected to the Pi Lambda Theta Educational Honorary Fraternity. From 1933 to 1935 she was principal of a private school, Laird Hall, in Los Angeles.

The Martins have been married 21 years on December 23, 1952. They were married in Huntington, L. I., one year after they met. They have no children.

Mrs. Martin plays the piano, having studied as a child and continued it through college. However, she says her music is entirely "for home consumption!" She also studied speech and has given many readings. An active club worker, she is a past president of the W.S.C.S., has been a member of the A.A.U.W., was the first president of the University Dames at Oklahoma City University (an organization composed of wives of faculty members), and helped to organize the Seminary Dames at Asbury Theological Seminary; but with all that, Mrs. Martin says her first interest since her marriage has always been her home.

Mrs. Duryea has lived with the Martins for the last six years, since the death of her husband. She was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. Rev. and Mrs. Duryea, both ordained ministers, were most active in the work of the Methodist Church. Although the early years of Mr. Duryea's life were spent in the business world, the last twenty years were in full time Christian service. For twelve years they both did missionary work in this country, and spoke in almost every state in the U. S. In 1937 they were sent to the Orient to do missionary work, and in six months, visited sixteen countries, preaching almost constantly.

When Mr. Duryea was living, many people jokingly called the Duryeas and the Martins "The Quartet." They were always a happy foursome, and the three now on the Wesleyan campus are a happy threesome. Dr. Martin refers to Mrs. Martin and her mother as "his girls," and we know that very soon he will be numbering all Wesleyans among "his girls" too.

Although Dr. Martin has in the past held four pastorates in Ohio and California, always he has felt that his work should be with Christian education. He is a most devout man and has a sincere conviction that he has been called to his work at Wesleyan. In his first talk to the students and faculty of both campuses on January 7, he won the hearts of all. Among many things, he said that at Wesleyan it should be "girl meets boy; girl meets books; girl meets ideals; girl meets Christ." Then he stressed this fact that "a person is not educated until he knows Christ."

As Mrs. C. C. Hinton, Wesleyan Trustee, said when she introduced Dr. Martin "Those most interested in Wesleyan's destiny selected you, Dr. Martin. We stand with you in the great work which you are to lead and we are confident you are able to keep that which has been committed unto you."

Faculty, Alumnae, and Students Honor The Quillians

Dr. William F. Quillian became president emeritus of Wesleyan College on January 1. Although he and Nonie (Acree) Quillian are back in their home in Atlanta, 1050 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., they are still living on the Rivoli campus in the hearts of the faculty members and students whom they helped and influenced. They are in the hearts of the Alumnae scattered around the world who knew the Quillians at Wesleyan from 1920 to 1931 and again after Dr. Silas Johnson died in 1951.

The entire Quillian family was honored by the faculty with a reception on the Rivoli campus the evening of November 12, following the chapel service that morning at which Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr., president of Randolph-Macon College, spoke on the subject, "Remember Who You Are." This was quite a red-letter day since there were three college presidents on the platform at this chapel program: Dr. Quillian, Sr.; Dr. Quillian, Jr., better known as "Billy" to many Alumnae; and Dr. Hubert Searcy, president of Huntingdon College at Montgomery, Alabama, and husband of Christine (Quillian) Searcy. The chapel service and reception were in the form of an appreciation day for the service which Dr. and Mrs. Quillian have given Wesleyan.

The Wesleyan Alumnae Association presented Dr. and Mrs. Quillian with a gift on the occasion of the beautiful tea given in their honor by Jennie (Loyall) Anderson at the Sidney Lanier Cottage on December 9. It was under Dr. Quillian's administration that the Alumnae Association was begun with Jennie (Loyall) Anderson as its first Executive Secretary. Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, National president, made the presentation of the exquisite silver tray, which bore this inscription on the back:

IN APPRECIATION
THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICES
AND INCOMPARABLE DEVOTION
WILLIAM F. QUILLIAN
President of Wesleyan College
1920-31; 1951-53
Dreamer and Builder of Rivoli
AND
NONIE ACREE QUILLIAN, Alumna
FROM
ASSOCIATION

The students took the Quillians completely by surprise when, during dinner on the night of December 10, Dr. and Mrs. Quillian were escorted to the center of the dining room by Mary Jo Cawley, head of Social Standards on the Rivoli campus. Mary Jo made the presentation for the entire student body of a lovely silver bread tray engraved on the back as follows: "With Love from Your Students, December 1952."

The Quillians wrote the following note to thank each and every alumna for their parting gift:

"Dearest Friends, this salutation does not satisfy the feeling of love that we have for each of you. In reality many of you are our daughters and the others are as sisters to us.

"Our second term of service at Wesleyan has been a mountain top experience. The Alumnae have given to us their highest loyalty and as Aaron and Hur held up the hands of Moses when the going was heavy, you have always given us your full cooperation and added to our joy and strength.

"The beautiful silver tray with that wonderful inscription that warms our hearts and stirs within us the deepest emotions, will ever bear witness to all you have meant to us.

"We love you and are thankful for every remembrance of you. Always with grateful appreciation. (Signed) William F. and Nonie Acree Quillian."

Our love and best wishes go with the Quillians always in their future activities and in their continued work with Christian education.

Gifts To The Library

A copy of the new revised version of the Bible has been presented to the library by Martha (Orr) Hutcherson, '29, in memory of Dr. T. D. Ellis, a fitting memorial to a great religious leader.

Essie (Skellie) McCook, '05, has presented the Eberlein and McClure "American Georgian Architecture" to be added to the many beautiful books she has given in memory of her daughter, Virginia Harlan McCook.

Winnett (Turner) Holt, '41, of Thomasville has sent the library a collection of her poems called "Scuppernongs."

Helen (Kilpatrick) Lyon, '30, has presented "This Star of England," by Dorothy and Charlton Ogburn in memory of Miss Virginia Garner.

Alumnae Scholarships For Wesleyan Girls

The Alumnae Loyalty Fund is used each year for scholarships for Wesleyan students at the College and the School of Fine Arts. Listed below you will find the names of students who are this year receiving scholarship aid either from gifts made directly through the Loyalty Fund, or given in memory or in honor of some alumna or alumnae. The A.D. Pi and Phi Mu Scholarships, although given by the Grand Councils of these organizations, number alumnae among their contributors.

The Margaret Porter Gordon Scholarship in "recognition of the fine spiritual and intellectual guidance given to the class of 1923 by Presidents W. F. Quillian and Charles R. Jenkins and the Wesleyan Faculty" is held by Gayle Attaway of Dublin.

The Mary Brooks Lester Brooks Scholarship is held by Annie Ruth Wong of Decatur.

The Anne Cloud Bass Scholarship is held by Mary Gaissert of Griffin.

The Martha and Ruth Kelley Scholarship is held by Joyce Reddick of Bainbridge.

The Ruth Kasey Yost Scholarship is held by Betty Henderson of Monticello.

The Ida Shelnutt Wyly Scholarship is held by Charlotte Poole of Atlanta.

The Beulah Smith Jelks Scholarship is held by Carolyn Stroupe of West Palm Beach, Florida.

The Willie Snow Ethridge Scholarship is held by Athelyn Wade of Macon.

The Ruth Benedict Watson Scholarship was awarded to Blaine Ross of Atlanta.

The Tommie Louise Craft Memorial Scholarship is held by Janice Long of Spartanburg, S. C.

The Dorothy Blount Lamar Scholarship is held by Betty Moss of Statesboro.

The Lucie Thrasher Wright Scholarship was awarded to Natalie Brewton of McRae, Georgia.

The Dickerson Moore Scholarship given in memory of her grandfather by Marion (Cook) Murphey is held by Lillian Gong of Miami, Fla.

The Thomas J. Stewart Scholarship, full tuition, given by Octavia (Burden) Stewart, is held by Alice Ann Hamilton of Macon.

The Linda Anderson Lane Scholarship was awarded to Marcia Mallet of Jackson, daughter of Mary (Lane) Mallet.

The Silas Johnson Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Joan Pritchard, Savannah.

The Tappan Scholarship in memory of the parents of Bessie (Tappan) Farris is held by her cousin, Mary Tappan of Dunwoody, Ga.

The Linda McKinney Anderson Scholarship, given by Jennie (Loyall) Anderson, was awarded to Gary Still of Atlanta.

Fund provided a scholarship for Louise Cawley of Quitman.

The Class of 1952 Endowed Scholarship Fund provided a scholarship for Laine Roosman of Lingen-Ems, Germany.

The Hinman Endowed Scholarship Fund, bequeathed to Wesleyan by Florence (Hand) Hinman, provided scholarships for: Kathryn Bennett, Pensacola, Fla.; Jane Cantrell, Atlanta; June Cason, Barnesville; Carole Jenkins, Jacksonville Beach, Fla.; Shirley Grace, Sarasota, Fla.; and Nancy King, Valdosta.

The Hinkle Endowed Scholarship Fund, bequeathed to Wesleyan by the late Eugene Hinkle of Connecticut in memory of his mother, Laura Ellen (Butts) Hinkle, provided scholarships for: Mary Jo Cawley, Quitman; Bonnie Jo Gardner, Gainesville, Ga.; Lil Gong, Miami, Fla.; Ann Harrell, Trion; Kittye Jones, Atlanta; Betty Barber McClure, Lewisburg, Penn.; Patricia Mangum, Augusta; Carolyn Miller, Whigham; Natholyn Miller, Whigham; Jane Wilson, Ft. Valley; Barbara Norris, Ft. Myers, Fla.; Jane Fenn, Cordele; Lucia Hutchinson, Newbern, N. C.

The Chenery Scholarships, provided for by an endowment given by the late Dr. William E. Chenery and his wife, Marion (Luse) Chenery of Pennsylvania, made possible scholarships for the following students: Barbara Brown, Eastman; Phyllis Clough, Douglas; Jane Courtenay, Gainesville, Ga.; Jean Ann Culbreth, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Carmen Gutierrez, Sequalagrand, Cuba; Leona Hammack, Edison; Patricia Harper, Jesup; Kent Hill, Thomasville; May Edith Hollingsworth, Pineville, La.; Josephine Hoover, Batesburg, S. C.; Billie Johnson, Stillmore, Ga.; Olive Long, Atlanta; Frances Moulthrop, Eufaula, Ala.; Juanita Sexton, Talladega, Ala.; Margaret Smith, Cordele; Billie Snow, Orlando, Fla.; Susan Thigpen, Edenton, N. C.; Mary Ann Wittstruck, St. Petersburg, Fla.

The General Alumnae Loyalty Fund, the total of many gifts from many alumnae, provided scholarships for: Ann Aiken, Atlanta; Virginia Allison, Pompano, Fla.; Betty Frances Castlen, Irwinton; Colleen Denton, Tampa, Fla.; Carolyn Freund, Lantana, Fla.; Judy Fuller, Winter Park, Fla.; Tomoko Hata, Hiroshima, Japan; Sally Lou Humphreys, Lake Alfred, Fla.; Alice Marlin, Miami, Fla.; Anne Moorehead, Toccoa; Marianne Morris, Ft. Gaines, Ga.; Nancy Norton, Ft. Pierce, Fla.; Roberta Owen, Greenville, S. C.; Gerda Paul, Frankfurt-Griesheim, Germany; Charlotte Theodocian, Smyrna; Adrienne Barnes, Coral Gables, Fla.; Mary Emma Welch of Marietta; Kitty Coddington, St. Simons Island.

With the close of the fall semester of the school year 1952-1953, Wesleyan has with regret accepted the resignation of Annabel Horn, A.B. '06. An ardent and enthusiastic alumna with a record of having served as Alumnae Trustee 1934-1937 and as President of the Alumnae Association 1937-1940, Miss Horn came to the college in an official capacity in 1941 after her retirement from Girls' High School in Atlanta. She was engaged to make a study of the curricula of women's colleges and to report to the Board of Trustees, but the magnitude of the work as Dean of the Conservatory which she actually undertook far exceeded the bounds of even her imagination. It was she who made possible the continuance of the Conservatory as a separate unit of Wesleyan. Almost single handedly she secured many of the outstanding faculty members who helped her to establish a curriculum that is unsurpassed in any Fine Arts School. She gave generously of her time as well as her substance and her strength to represent the school in distinguished academic circles thereby winning further prestige for it. Then after seven years of hard work and of seeing the realization of her dream, she resigned. However, unable to resist the need of her Alma Mater, she was persuaded by Dr. Silas Johnson to come to the Rivoli campus as his assistant. Later, she resigned again, but Dr. Quillian persuaded her to stay on to help with the great responsibility that had come to him as result of the death of Dr. Johnson.

In the words of Linda (Anderson) Lane who paid tribute to Miss Horn at the Alumnae Council meeting held at the college on January 14:

"Now she is leaving Wesleyan as an official and becoming just an alumna again. We welcome her with open arms, realizing how valuable she is to us. At long last, she is going to have "a well-earned rest" — a trite phrase which is a triumph of understatement in Miss Horn's case! She has fixed up her mountain home near Blairsville for year-round occupancy. She has delightful plans for travelling abroad. I have no doubt that she will do some writing in her favorite field of the classical languages. We wish for her a deeply satisfying happiness in this new phrase of her life.

Annabel, we realize all too well that a work of the magnitude of yours is never adequately appreciated. I believe it would be humanly impossible. But we want you to know that we do appreciate you and love you; we value you as one of the very choicest spirits ever to be found among the daughters of Wesleyan."

The Alumnae Council Meets

The Wesleyan Alumnae Council held its annual meeting in the student parlors at Rivoli, the morning of January 14, with Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, president, presiding.

The meeting brought together the national officers, alumnae trustees, members of the Board of Managers, club and class representatives, as well as selected members of the faculty and student body.

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, new president of Wesleyan, was introduced by Miss Annabel Horn. He told the alumnae present "You will be my listening ears, my eyes, my right hand. I am dependent upon you. I plead with you for a favorable grapevine; for an undertone of positive, dynamic, critical attitude on your part; for a minimum of gossip; a maximum amount of constructive criticism; and a renewal of that dedication of time, self, substance, faith and hope for this magnificent institution."

Mr. T. E. Thrasher, Executive Director of the Wesleyan Foundation, spoke next urging each alumna to do a public relations job for Wesleyan. He introduced Neva Jane Langley, Miss America for 1953, who has been at the School of Fine Arts for a few days preparing for the forthcoming Wesleyan Glee Club tour.

Miss Annabel Horn, retiring at the end of January from the position of assistant to the President of Wesleyan, received a gift, a silver bowl, presented by Linda (Anderson) Lane from the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

The Atlanta, Columbus, and Macon Clubs were represented as well as the reunion classes of 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1932, and 1933.

Mrs. Martin, wife of the new President, and her mother, Mrs. John A. Duryea, were presented to the Council. All present were invited to be the guests of the College for lunch following the meeting.

Gift To The Historical Collection

An old oil painting, beautifully framed, of Maria Louisa (Brantly) Lathrop, A.B. 1853, was given the College this fall by her double niece, Miss Louise Lathrop of Decatur, Georgia. The portrait has been hung at the School of Fine Arts.

Louisa (Brantly) Lathrop was born in 1836 on her father's plantation at Vineville, Macon. She was graduated from the old College at 17; married Dwight Lathrop of Savannah during the War Between the States; and died with her first child in 1865.

Homecoming For Class of 1952

Homecoming the Saturday before Thanksgiving brought forth its usual gaiety, its color, its hard-fought soccer games, the beautiful banquet, and the dance with its well-known band; but best of all it brought back many alumnae for the week-end.

After the soccer games, the grads of 1952 came streaming into the Alumnae Office where they practiced their songs and enjoyed "cokes" together. Jean (Armstrong) Smith, class president, directed the song she wrote to tune of "Clementine." And during the banquet when Marella Mitchell lead the song to the tune of the spiritual "It's In the Book," that brought thunderous applause.

The '52 alumnae who signed the Alumnae Book included: Jean Tolbert, Suzanne McCowen, Pauline Buhl, Patryce Federline, Betty Banks Deal, Pat Berry, Mary Laura Peavy, Alice Lee Weldon, Jean Youmans, Sarah Roughton, Jane Gale, Virginia Switzer, Beverly Harvey, Carolyn King, Marella Mitchell, Margaret Lynch, Doranne Jennings, Peggy Stiles, Vann Snell, Martha Biemann, Mary Eva (Bryan) DuBose, Peggy (Thoroughman) Callahan, Martha, Davis, Jean (Armstrong) Smith, Jackie (Norman) Cordova, Pat Murphy, Mary Meadow Roberts, Jane Meadow, Delma Findlay, and Nancy Lewis.

The class of '49 was also well represented by Ann Strozier, Roslyn (Atkinson) Harden, Emmie (Carlton) Johnston, Betty Faye (Holt) Lawton, Nadine (Cranmer) Read, Nell Rodgers, Betty (Mackay) Asbury, Marion (Allison) Webb, Clara Hillis, and Emily (Hancock) Jones.

Courtney Knight (Courtie) of class of '51 and Elsie Sutherland of class of '53 dropped by the Alumnae Office, and there may have been other alumnae on the campus of whom we have no record.

Former Wesleyan Professor Writes Book on Lawrence

Dr. Eliot Gilbert Fay, head of the modern language department at Wesleyan for two years before going to Emory University in 1946, has published a book, "Lorenze in Search of the Sun," a study of D. H. Lawrence during the last ten years of his life.

Dr. Fay's research was made possible by a grant from the Emory research committee, from funds of the Carnegie Foundation and the University.

Dr. G. C. White Phi Delta Phi Day Speaker

Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of Emory University, a trustee of Wesleyan, and the first Southerner to be named national president of Phi Beta Kappa, spoke to the student body on the Rivoli campus at chapel on November 16. His talk followed a short induction ceremony of four initiates into Phi Delta Phi, Wesleyan's honor society.

Dr. White centered his talk around the five "Enduring Outcomes of a College Education." These he gave as a disciplined mind that "comes from the study of meaningful and thoughtful subject matter"; the power to judge or develop "a background for decision and choice . . . to give meaning to new experience"; a standard of values whereby to know "the beautiful, the true, and the good" and to have an "intimacy with excellence"; the development of abiding interests so that a student is raised "beyond the routine of daily life" and her education is not "finished with college"; and a philosophy of life that is not fixed or final but has room for growth and that "must inevitably rest upon faith."

Elizabeth (Conner) Tucker, 1948, president of the local chapter of Phi Delta Phi, presided over the induction ceremony of the four new members: Eugenia Trapp, Macon; Carolyn Blakely of Chester, S. C., daughter of Bernice (Hurst) Blakely, 1924; Jan Gay of Reg-ister; and Jane Cary Chapman, Forsyth.

Alumnae Birthday Parties

The Wesleyan Alumnae Association, through Roberta (Jones) Gardiner chairman of the student interests committee, is striving this year to do its part in keeping the students at Wesleyan satisfied and happy, thus cutting down on the number of students that drop out each year.

Since the School of Fine Arts once a quarter has a birthday cake for those girls whose birthday comes during that period, and since this program had been dropped at the Rivoli campus and was not being done, the alumnae have taken this upon themselves, beginning with November, and have furnished beautifully decorated birthday cakes donated by certain alumnae.

The first birthday cake was given by Freda (Kaplan) Nadler for November, when she learned Nonie (Acree) Quillian's birthday was that month. Roberta (Jones) Gardiner gave the cake for December, and since Dr. Quillian's birthday was in that month, he sat with the students at the "birthday table" and helped cut the cake.

Roberta working with Mary Jo Cawley, head of social standards on the Rivoli campus, has worked out the schedule through the month of May with those girls having birthdays during the summer months being included. The following Macon alumnae are giving the birthday cakes:

January and July—

Jennie (Loyall) Anderson
Linda (Anderson) Lane

February and June—

Pauline (Pierce) Corn
Annie (Gantt) Anderson

March and August—

Mildred (Goodrum) Heyward
Margaret (Murphey) Martin

April and September—

Carolyn (Cater) Jones
Helen (Cater) Farmer

May and October

Alice (Burden) Domingos
Octavia (Burden) Stewart

The students are most enthusiastic over this program, and Mary Jo Cawley reports that those who had birthdays during the summer are delighted that they are not left out.

Career Girls In Scouting

Four Wesleyan graduates are among the more than 1500 executives employed by Girl Scout councils in all parts of the country, and another works directly under the national organization.

Careers in Girl Scouting may be a new concept to many people who think of the organization primarily in terms of volunteer service, but for the Wesleyan graduates who have full-time Girl Scout jobs, it is a "time-tested" solution for women who are looking for work which offers adventure and variety as well as the opportunity to make an important contribution to community life.

Jeannette Deaver, class of '38, Executive Director of the Southern Oakland Girl Scout Council, Royal Oak, Michigan.

Of the Wesleyan graduates now working in the field, one is Jeannette Deaver, class of '38, Executive Director of the Southern Oakland Girl Scout Council in Royal Oak, near Detroit, Michigan. Like many executive directors Jeannette was active as a Program Aide while a Senior Scout and continued to work with troops as a volunteer leader while still in college. In her first job after graduation as the Program Director in a home for dependent children she was a leader for Girl Scout troops in all three Scout age categories, Brownies, (7-9); Intermediates, (10-14); and Seniors, (15-17).

Another Wesleyan graduate, Sara Stewart, class of '49, Field Director of the Glendale, Calif., Girl Scout Council, first became interested in professional Scouting because of her enthusiasm for the camping program.

Sara Stewart, class of '49, Field Director of the Glendale, Calif., Girl Scout Council.

Rena Shaefer, class of '47, Field Director of the Santa Barbara, Calif., Girl Scout Council, on the other hand, became interested primarily because she found that Scouting included the main points she was looking for in a job.

Clifton Wight, class of '46, also found that Girl Scout work filled the bill as far as she was concerned, although she says, "the choice was more accidental than intentional." Having gone to New York after graduation, as a member of the Wesleyan Summer Service Group, she found she was unable to enter the New York School of Social Work as she had planned and so began looking for a job in the general field of social group work. Applying to the Girl Scouts, she was offered the job of Field Director of the Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Council, a job she held for two years. From there she transferred to the Leon County, Fla., Girl Scout Council, where she was Executive Director until June, 1951.

Rena Shaefer, class of '49, Field Director of the Glendale, Calif., Girl Scout Council.

In 1951 Clifton was awarded one of the six Girl Scout scholarships given each year to professional workers for graduate study in social group work. The scholarship was renewed this year and she will receive a Masters degree in Social Work from the New York School of Social Work in June, 1953.

Like the majority of the 1500 women in the field each of these Wesleyannes is one of the best advertisements the organization has for its jobs. Asked to comment about her work, Rena Shaefer said,

"The satisfactions of the Girl Scout professional's job are many. They are not, for the most part, material satisfactions. Rather they are such satisfactions as seeing small children learn the meaning of the Girl Scout promises; of seeing teen-agers plan together with adults, learning to be active members of the community and to respect people of all races and creeds; the satisfactions of working with volunteers, who through their time and effort help to build a world of understanding based on democratic principles (and) in knowing that I work with people who are continually emphasizing the democratic way. These people don't just talk about it, but exemplify it and live it."

Clifton Wight, class of '46 is studying at the New York School, of Social Work as the recipient of a Girl Scout scholarship.

Jeannette Deaver sums it up another way.

"My greatest satisfactions in this work have to do with people. I believe Girl Scouting is one of the best media through which adults are enabled to make more effective use of their abilities and interests toward a very satisfying goal; that of providing opportunities for girls in a community to learn how to get along well with other people, and developing a feeling of service to others (as well as) their own personalities and capacities. I like Girl Scouting because I like to sell ideas—not products. I like to stimulate interest on the part of a community in having a concern for the welfare of its youth."

Clifton Wight cites the challenge of the job "it has been most satisfying to belong to a world organization. No matter where you are there are friends to be found." Having spent the past two summers in Europe where she visited with representatives of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, Clifton speaks from experience.

Another Wesleyan graduate in Girl Scouting is Margaret Chapman, who as Director of the Publications Section is a member of the organization's national headquarters staff in New York.

A journalism major, Margaret was editor of The Wesleyan and after graduation was the Assistant Librarian at College. Before joining the national Girl Scout staff she worked with local Scout councils in Charleston, W. Va., and Dayton, Ohio. In her present position she supervises the editing and production of all national Girl Scout publications. She is the author of the most recent edition of the Girl Scout handbook.

As Girl Scout membership continues to grow and more professional jobs are being available for qualified women; this is one of the many interesting career fields into which Wesleyan Alumnae are entering—a field where they are finding a deep satisfaction with opportunity for growth and advancement.

Gift To Campbell Art Collection

In November Wesleyan received four beautiful lithographs from Ella Fillmore Lillie of Danby, Vermont, to be added to the Campbell Art Collection.

The four prints, scenes from St. Simons Island, Georgia, are well-known to most Wesleyannes and Georgians, and are entitled: "Siamese Oak, Sea Island"; "Pink Chapel, St Simons Island"; "Tabby Ruins, Retreat Plantation"; and "Atlanta to the Sea." Miss Lillie's explanation of the title "Atlanta to the Sea" is most interesting. The print depicts "the old, kitchen chimney at Cannons Point, the home of the Coupers which was destroyed by Sherman's men. The bricks, no doubt, came from England. It seemed so poignant to me, so symbolic of the destruction all the way through Georgia of fine homes, that I gave it this title."

These four prints have won many prizes including the Mark Brown prize of $50.00 at the 26th Hoosier Annual in 1950. They are also in both the Telfair Art Museum in Savannah and the High Art Museum in Atlanta, as well as museums in Vermont, Massachusetts, California, Connecticut, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Ohio, and the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

Wesleyan is indeed proud of this latest addition to the collection of fine art and is indebted to Miss Lillie and Mrs. Campbell.

Wesleyan Graduate Publishes Second Volume of Genealogy

Jewel (Davis) Scarborough, A.B. 1904, has published her second volume of "Southern Kith and Kin." The Davis Family and their connections which is a record of John Davis, Revolutionary soldier of Botetourt County, Virginia, his descendants and connecting families. It contains a detailed history of Stone Creek Baptist Church in Twiggs County, Georgia, from 1808-1888, with lists of members and pastors.

Those interested in history and genealogy will enjoy this history of the Davis family and their participation in the conquest of the Georgia wilderness and the upbuilding of Middle Georgia, as well as their services in the Creek Indian Wars, the War between the States, the Spanish American War, and the two World Wars.

THE LOYALTY FUND TO DATE

As the magazine goes to press on January 12, 419 alumnae and 1 club contributed $4,581.95 to the Loyalty Fund for 1952-53.

The need at Wesleyan is so great that the future of Wesleyan might well be influenced by what we can do to help — whether with money or with our labor of love. Our new president, Dr. Martin, will be encouraged to greater accomplishments if he has the support and cooperation of Wesleyan's alumnae.

The above gifts range from $1.00 to $400.00. We welcome each gift, no matter how small, and are hoping and praying to see the day when all 7500 of our alumnae will do something for Wesleyan.

The year is half gone! Put the Loyalty Fund in your budget immediately and remember that this contribution is deductible for income tax purposes.

Let's each give a gift and give The Fund a lift!

Club News

MACON CLUB

Wray (Shepherd) Marsh, '34, right, president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Macon, and Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher, '33, chairman for the tea given at Wesleyan College in October for the Miller High School seniors and their parents, were assisted by many Macon students among whom, pictured at left, was Alice Ann Hamilton, president of the senior class.

The faculty of both the Rivoli campus and the School of Fine Arts joined the Macon Alumnae in welcoming over 45 high school seniors together with their parents. The guests enjoyed a tour of the campus conducted by the Macon students now at Wesleyan.

JACKSONVILLE CLUB

The Jacksonville Wesleyan Alumnae Club had a most enjoyable fall meeting at the home of the President, Sarah (Davison) Barrett, '39. The Club voted to send $10.00 as a contribution to the Loyalty Fund.

Since the president announced she and her family were moving to Atlanta, a nominating committee composed of Gladys (Leavitt) Prior, '32; Helen (White) Lindell, '41; and Rose (Varner) Bailey, '30, was appointed. The next meeting will be in March, at which time a new president will be elected.

* * * *

AUGUSTA CLUB

Plans for the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Augusta were discussed at a meeting on September 30, presided over by the new president, Lilly (Lake) Stephenson, 1943.

The other new officers are: Eugenia Toole, 1949, vice-president; Eugenia (Hutto) Howard, 1930, treasurer; Louisa (Willingham) Williams, 1939, corresponding secretary; and Elizabeth Jones, 1929, recording secretary.

The project of raising funds for a scholarship to Wesleyan was discussed, and it was voted to continue this. Plans were tentatively made to entertain later in the year the high school junior and senior girls.

NEWMAN CLUB

Following the "College Day" observed on November 21 at the Newnan High School, the Wesleyan Alumnae Club gave a tea at the home of its president, Martha "Parkie" (Culpepper) Lee, for the high school seniors who had expressed an interest in Wesleyan. Tekla Jean Davis, the field representative for Wesleyan, and Thyrza White, Harriette Stripling, and Delle Young, students now at Wesleyan from Newnan were also honor guests.

At a short business meeting at the close of the tea, the following officers were elected for next year: Janie Lee (Johnson) Banks, president; Virginia (Arnall) Moody, vice-president; Maryella Camp, secretary; and Ellie (McNeil) Caldwell, treasurer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., CLUB

On November 15 the Wesleyan Alumnae Club got off to a good start with a luncheon meeting at the Washington Club, 15 DuPont Circle. Carrie Lou Allgood, '26, president presided.

Speaker of the day was Mary Louise Collings, '25, now in charge of extension personnel training, Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mary Louise "is just as pretty as she was when she went to Wesleyan." Her subject was "The South Today."

Second meeting of the season was held on January 24. Speakers at this meeting were Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, '26, National Alumnae President, and Malene (Lee) Morgan, '32, Acting Alumnae Director. Freda discussed the work of the Association, and Malene spoke on "Wesleyan Today."

Looking ahead, the Club has scheduled Induk Pahl, '28, last year's winner of the Alumnae Distinguished Achievement Award, for March 14, to speak on "Korea Today," and in May a tea at the home of Anne (Morton) Morton, '35. They have published a most attractive calendar for the year.

Their committee for student enrollment, headed by Isabella Harris, '26, has been busily contacting high school girls.

Isabella entertained Freda as her house guest during her stay in Washington, which included the Inauguration and attendant festivities. Carrie Lou Allgood accompanied her to the Georgia Society Ball and provided choice accommodations for the parade in her government building on Pennsylvania avenue. That evening, Carol Arnold invited them to her home for a TV view of the Inaugural Balls. Carrie Lou and Freda also attended the Congressional Club as guests of Mary Lou (Martin) Davis, outgoing president.

Activities of Alumnae-At-Large

IN AMERICUS

Although there is no organized Wesleyan Alumnae Club in Americus now, Leita (Moore) Morgan, A.B. 1928, and Anne (Griffin) Gatewood, A.B. 1937, really proved their loyalty to Wesleyan when on December 9 they planned a full day's program for a group from the Conservatory accompanied by Bertram Kelso of the voice department, Jeannette (Wallace) Oliphant and Malene (Lee) Morgan.

An hour long program was presented during the morning in the high school auditorium before the entire student body. The chorus of eleven Conservatory students was accompanied at the piano by Jean Adams of Americus. After a program of Christmas music by the students, Mr. Kelso sang three beautiful numbers. Other Wesleyan Alumnae at the high school for the program were Elizabeth (Smith) Buchanan, '29; Claudia (Davenport) Leonard, '31; Yona (Bell) Lott, '32; Mildred (Shirah) Kight, '36; and Annie Laurie (Daniel) Daniel, '27, a teacher in the Americus High School.

The same program was given again at the Rotary Club meeting held at the Country Club, where lunch was served the entire group. Then the program was repeated in the early afternoon at the Georgia Southwestern College in Americus.

Anne (Griffin) Gatewood wrote the Alumnae Office after Christmas, "We've heard nothing but praise for the programs the girls presented down here, and we want to thank you for bringing them. It surely gave Wesleyan some good publicity in this town. I'm sure all concerned would be glad to have such a program every year."

CLASS NOTES

Josephine (Whitehurst) Rozar of Milledgeville is one of Wesleyan's most ardent boosters, according to her daughter, Miss Nannette Rozar, who visited the Wesleyan campus in November and who will be remembered by so many as the dietitian at Rivoli campus from 1928 to 1944, and dietitian at Conservatory from 1945 to 1951.

1884

The 89th birthday of Cornelia Goode (Smith) Holtzclaw was the occasion of many beautiful parties given by relatives and friends.

1885

Marion (Luse) Chenery represented Wesleyan College at the Centennial celebration of Tufts College, Medford, Massachusetts, in October.

IN THOMASVILLE

Mary (Murphey) Dillon, '34, because of her interest in Wesleyan was responsible for a similar program in Thomasville on December 12, given by the same group from Wesleyan School of Fine Arts. Accompanying the group of students were Dr. H. F. Wallace, Dean of the Conservatory, Bertram Kelso of the voice department, Jeanette (Wallace) Oliphant, Dean of Women at the Conservatory, and Tekla Jean Davis, A.B., 1951, field representative.

The choral group of eleven accompanied at the piano by Jean Adams of Americus gave a 30-minute program of Christmas music, after which Mr. Kelso sang several numbers. The program was presented before the entire student body, and the mothers of the senior girls were also invited.

Luncheon was served to the group from Wesleyan and to 60 high school seniors and their mothers by seventeen Wesleyan Alumnae as follows: Marion (Hayes) Ainsworth, '95; Lucie (Heeth) Bracey, '27; Emily (Neel) Caldwell, '27; Pauline (Mitchell) Eansor, '00; Helen (McGrew) Fortney, '33; Winnett (Turner) Holt, '41; Anna Elizabeth (Darling) Knepton, '19; Mary Launius, '49; Pauline (Dinmore) McCrea, '27; Laleah (Wight) McIntyre, '16; Martha (Lamar) Morrison, '29; Katrina (Secrest) Poole, '49; Emily (Barkley) Searcy, '30; Claire (Flowers) Varnedoe, '27; Neila (Damour) Watt, '14; Ann (Dodd) Whiddon, '50; Mary (Murphey) Dillon, '34.

During lunch those interested in learning more about Wesleyan were able to talk to Tek Davis.

At 1:15 the same program was presented to the Thomasville Kiwanis Club.

Thank you, Alumnae in Americus and Thomasville, for a job well done!

Julia (McClatchey) Cook's husband, Eugene, was named first vice-president of the National Association of Attorneys General at a recent conference of that organization.

Minnie (Van Valkenburg) Holt of Beloit, Wisconsin, writes as follows: "I think it would be nice if our class could have a 'Round Robin.' It might take more than a year for it to get to every member (if others are as slow about writing as myself). Wouldn't Lucretia like to start one? The entire class membership and their addresses would need to be enclosed and each person would check off the name she mailed it to. This has been in the back of my mind for several years. I bet our class would lead in the number contributing to the Loyalty Fund if a feeling of unity was created.

Don't misunderstand me; the letter would have nothing to do with contributions. It would be solely for information about each classmate and her family, little personal remarks, and reminiscences. It might help to get more interested in coming back for our reunion in 1954 to see those we've lost contact with these past 25 years! Pardon my rhetoric! Remember, I'm a chemist and not a journalist."

Silver Anniversary Reunion

Elizabeth (Armstrong) Stevens and her husband have bought an old place on the Augusta highway, near Milledgeville. Elizabeth is Lab Technician at the State Hospital, and Rad is a patient in the regular hospital. Elizabeth's mother is with her. She writes "It's a wonderful life to see the sun rise and set. Sara Fernandez left Cuba last June on a year's furlough and went to study at the University of Arkansas. While there she observed the health work and the work of the County Demonstration Agents in Ozark, Little Rock, and Melbourne, Ark. Then she spent three weeks in New York City visiting her sister. Now she is at home at 3106—15th St., Tampa, Fla., and will be there until she goes to Emory University for a quarter. She made a visit to the Alumnae Office in October, coming especially to see Dr. and Mrs. Quillian. She said that it made her feel that she had "come home" to find them here. She is enjoying her furlough but hopes to be sent back to Omaja, Cuba.

Sympathy is extended to Dorothy (Redwine) Black in the loss of her mother, Mrs. William Wilson Redwine.

Ethel (Rogers) Townsend writes, "I have one little girl, Susan, aged ten. I am up to my ears in P.T.A. work, beginning my second year as president of Miami Shores Elementary Association, which has a membership of over 1500, making it the second largest elementary association in Florida. I love every minute of it! Last May I attended the National P.T.A. Convention in Indianapolis as a delegate from Florida.

Elizabeth (Scott) Hagan now lives at 8815 Lochburn Lane, S.W., Apt. 2, Tacoma 9, Washington. She writes: "I have moved again! This time I tried to get as close as possible to the Port from which I will fly or sail. I don't know how much longer I will have to wait before going to Japan to join my husband, but I am living in Tacoma now and teaching while waiting.

"I went to summer school at the Oregon College of Education in Mammouth, Oregon, for eleven weeks and finished up 18 hours of work. Early in September I moved up here.

"My husband is an instructor in Combat Intelligence at the Far East Command Intelligence School at Camp Palmer, thirty miles from Tokyo.

"This is beautiful country. Mt. Rainier is practically in my front yard."

Reunion in 1953

Carolyn (Blackshear) Wilson, her husband and two children, 16-year-old Jack and 15-year-old Adrienne, have moved to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Their address is 1918 Bay View Drive.

Lula (Calhoun) Vinson writes that Ida Mae (Smith) Bentley of Columbus is planning to join her and go to their class reunion this coming May. Lula was invited to be a judge in the Columbus Camellia Show held February 14.

Helen (Childs) Lapeyrouse writes that she is a den mother and working with her own two sons, 9 and 10, in the cub scouts. She also says, "The new president of Wesleyan is from this Parish. I heard him give the Christmas sermon here several years ago."

Martha (Dimon) Kendrick wrote the Alumnae Office before her marriage on November 19: "I am going to change my name and address. The boys and I are going to marry Shi Holmes and will live in Zebulon. The boys are just delighted and it is very wonderful for us all!"

Christine (Glausier) Tidmore is bookkeeper for the Terrell County Hospital at Dawson.

Elsie (Graham) Hudgings, her husband and two boys, age 10 and 8, have moved from Rochester, N. Y., to Moorestown, N. J., to be with her family.

Marjorie (Mitchell) Jones' husband is a Lt. Colonel in the army and has served as staff judge advocate for corps in Korea since January 1952. Marjorie is teaching in the Atlanta public school system.

Eunice (Partin) Smith is the new president of the Macon Parsonage Dames.

The friends of Kathryn (Silknitter) Cooke will be grieved to learn of the death early in November of her husband, Paul, from the dread disease cancer about which he wrote in his paper, the Plant City Courier. Only a week before his death the University of Florida awarded Cooke a special citation for public service for "Courageous writing on cancer."

1933

Reunion in 1953

The baby son of Ann (Tucker) Cotton, born in early summer was christened in Atlanta during October.

1934

The Wesleyan library has received a copy of the book "Historic Churches of the South" as a gift from Mrs. W. C. Little of Brunswick. It contains a chapter on Christ Church, Savannah, by Margaret Godley, A.B. 1934. She writes in the book: "in memory of one of Wesleyan's noblest characters and greatest teachers, Miss Mary Virginia Garner, with the appreciation of one of her students, Margaret Godley."

Sympathy is extended to Eugenia (Peacock) English 2102 Rolling Road, Greensboro, N. C., in the death of her brother, Lamar Peacock. We regret notice of this was not given in the November issue. Eugenia writes the Alumnae Office in part, "You all will enjoy Dr. and Mrs. Martin. They were neighbors of ours. Mrs. Duryea, Mrs. Martin's mother, was an especially good friend of mine and will certainly be an asset to any community."

Katherine (Jordan) Stewart's husband, Benham, is the new president of the Men's Club of Mulberry Street Methodist Church.

Some very interesting pictures made at "Pine View Farms," the modern cattle farm of Elah (Holliday) Tucker's husband and father-in-law, appeared in a recent issue of the Macon Telegraph.

Roberta (Ingle) Jolly writes she is always disappointed to find so little news of the class of 1936. To remedy this she sent in the following: "This, my second year in Marietta, finds me serving as president of the Woman's Club, repeating as vice-president and program chairman of Cobb County Girl Scout Board, and for the fifth (and last) time, vice-president of our local W.S.C.S. When Rollins, my husband took on the presidency of our couples' Sunday School Class, with membership of over 300, I knew his being out of town half the time would keep the president's wife busy, and it has! I'm looking forward to next year when I plan to devote more time to my three children in grammar school.

"Rollins was instrumental in getting Ruth (Mahone) Harris' husband, Kenneth, to come work for the same company he is with; but as they live in Decatur, we don't see them and their cute Ruthie as often as we'd like. We had a delightful visit with Margaret (Stubbs) Rohde and her husband last time we were in DeLand, but that, too, doesn't happen often."
